

Cocteau et compagnie (Cocteau & Co)

Wednesday, November 4, 8.30 pm, Alliance Française Ondeo auditorium

Director: Jean-Paul Fargier

Genre: Biography documentary

Synopsis: Cocteau draws in front of the camera. We see a sure, definitive line develop-like a jazz musician, as he explains, or like writing in action. This unfolding line is the central figure of the film, which presents a highly original, erudite portrait of the artist, showing the constant interactions at work and the essence of a prolific, eclectic research.

Ticket information: Free admission

Yves Saint Laurent 5, Avenue Marceau 75116 Paris

Wednesday, November 18, 8.30 pm, Alliance Française Ondeo auditorium

Director: David Teboul

Genre: Fashion documentary

Synopsis: Le grand couturier Yves Saint Laurent has been challenging the fashion establishment for nearly half a century. One of the first to revolutionize street style with his 1960s "Beat Look" collection, and credited with the creation of the pantsuit -- his le smoking, a tuxedo tailored for women, provoked the androgynous movement in fashion -- Saint Laurent continues to produce sexy, vibrant lines. Now, the French television network Canal+ has documented the making of his Spring 2002 collection for its upcoming film, 5, avenue Marceau -- the address of his famed couture house.

Ticket information: Free admission

Eldorado, Contemporary Dance Ballet by Angelin Preljocaj

Wednesday November 25, 8.30 pm, Alliance Française Ondeo auditorium

Director: Olivier Assayas

Genre: Dance documentary

Synopsis: Olivier Assayas films the encounter between the composer Stockhausen, legendary inventor of electro-acoustic music and the choreographer Angelin Preljocaj focusing on the creation of the ballet Eldorado. Through rehearsals and preparatory meetings, a real exchange sheds light on the resonance between music and movement and the birth, through experimentation, of a creation, the prolongation of sounds in gestures, echoing each other until they achieve abstraction".

Ticket information: Free admission